

Avi Feldman, CEO, Capital Nature
Chairman, IATI Cleantech Committee

Avi joined Capital Nature in 2012, bringing extensive experience managing and funding programs in the public sector, and vast experience in leadership of entrepreneurship and startup projects.

In his previous role, Avi was the Founder and Director of the Regional Development Center at the Ministry of Industry, Trade, and Labor (MOITAL) and Israel's delegate to the LEED and TDPC Executive Committees in the OECD. In this position, Avi led policy creation, design of new economic development models, budget planning, and promotion of programs (such as industrial parks, national research institutions, and special R&D programs for technology start-ups and SME's).

Prior, Avi served as the Deputy Legal Advisor at MOITAL and Legal Advisor to the Chief Scientist, and was responsible for major legislative reforms as well as the design and implementation of policies and incentive programs for capital investments. Avi also served as director at the Governmental Start-Up Fund and of the Israeli Industry Center for R&D (MATIMOP).

Avi holds a LL.B. from the College of Management's Law School, LL.M. from The Hebrew University of Jerusalem and EMPA from Syracuse University, NY. on a Fulbright scholarship, and graduate the Economic Attaché's course at MOITAL.